Statement: Leadership is a very dynamic role; one must play for the effective and efficient management of the organization. Since work force is the only living factor of production with all emotions, it further adds a layer of complexity in the profile of a leader. To address this issue GIMS, Greater Noida/ Delhi NCR organized a Management Development Program (MDP) on theme titled “Strategic Leadership Through Emotional Intelligence” with an aim to instigate the learnings related to emotional intelligence among the managers of today and tomorrow.

Objective: To equip the managers with emotional intelligence for strategic leadership.

Purpose: The purpose of this MDP was to prepare the managers for utilizing emotional intelligence as tool in resolving various managerial issues regarding labour force so that frictions can be reduced to minimum in any organization.

Brief Report: Emotional Intelligence is pivotal in case of strategic leadership because it helps in developing a cohesive and cooperating environment at the work place where entire work force work as a team towards accomplishment of a common organizational goal along with their personal aspirations. Under the banner of Management Development Program (MDP) a one-week workshop on the theme titled “Strategic Leadership through Emotional Intelligence” by our esteemed resource person namely Dr. Ruchi Rayat, Dr. Yamini Pandey Vyas and Dr. Jitendra Singh having years of corporate and academic experience.

The core focus of the workshop was on multi-tasking, mindfulness, emotional intelligence, thinking style, inner stability, automatic cycle of behaviour, managing anger and work place politics and harmony. The initial topics were covered by Dr. Ruchi Rayat, topics related to work place politics by Dr. Yamini Pandey Vyas and topic on harmony by Dr. Jitendra Singh.

Key Takeaways of the session

Session 1	Our thoughts lead to positive emotions and negative thought lead to negative emotions
Session 2	Our actions will lead to the creation of the events.
Session 3	Anger can be managed through meditation and journaling.
Session 4	Office politics is sometime useful in organizations of getting the things done.
Session 5	Politics beyond a point makes the organizational environment toxic for workers.
Session 6	Person needs to be in harmony with himself and with the surrounding environment.
Session 7	Person should align their goals with the organizational goals
