Editor's Musings

Turning the page on another year and welcoming the fresh possibilities that 2025 brings, it gives me immense pleasure to present this new edition of our alumni newsletter. On behalf of the entire GIMS family, I extend our warmest wishes for a happy, prosperous, and fulfilling New Year to all our distinguished alumni across the globe. The year began on a celebratory note with the convocation ceremony of our PGDM Batch 2022-24. Witnessing these bright minds receive their degrees and step confidently into their professional journeys filled us with immense pride. They now join the ranks of GIMS alumni, reminding us of the continuous cycle of excellence that defines our institution. This year holds special significance with our planned lineup of exciting alumni engagement activities. Our upcoming alumni meet promises to be a grand reunion, providing an opportunity for our graduates to reconnect with their alma mater, share their success stories, and inspire current students.

These interactions form the cornerstone of our vibrant alumni community and strengthen the bonds that tie us together. Moving forward, we are confident that this year will witness another remarkable placement record, continuing GIMS's tradition of producing industry-ready professionals who excel in their chosen fields. The success of our alumni serves as a testament to the quality of education and values instilled during their time at GIMS. I encourage each of you to stay connected with your alma mater. Your experiences, insights and achievements not only inspire current students but also contribute to the growing legacy of GIMS. Whether through mentoring, guest lectures, or simply sharing your professional journey, every contribution strengthens our community. Embarking on this new year together, let us continue to uphold the values and excellence that GIMS represents. Here's to another year of growth, success, and meaningful connections.

Dr. Bhupender Kumar Som
Director, GIMS

Director's Message

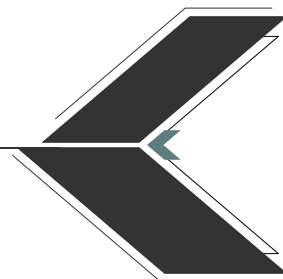

In the continuum of institutional evolution, certain milestones are not merely ceremonial—they reaffirm our shared vision, our collective aspirations, and the intellectual legacy we cultivate together. The release of Volume III of the GIMS Alumni Connect exemplifies such a milestone.

I extend my sincere appreciation to the Alumni Relations Department for their resolute commitment to fostering meaningful connections and curating this platform of knowledge exchange and alumni engagement. As we stand at the threshold of 2025, I convey my best wishes for the New Year to each member of the GIMS family.

May this year ignite renewed purpose, professional distinction, and personal well-being for all. This edition holds particular significance as we prepare to confer academic degrees upon the PGDM Batch of 2023–2025, transforming them from scholars to stewards of industry and society. Their convocation is not merely a conclusion but an intellectual commencement—a formal induction into the distinguished GIMS alumni fraternity that spans borders and disciplines.

Our alumni remain the finest ambassadors of GIMS's academic ethos, exemplifying excellence, leadership, and global relevance in diverse domains. Their achievements reinforce our standing as an institution committed to academic rigor, ethical leadership, and social responsibility. To our new alumni—welcome to this enduring legacy. Your journey beyond the classroom is an extension of our collective pursuit of knowledge, innovation, and impact. I urge all alumni to remain actively engaged with GIMS, as mentors, collaborators, and thought leaders shaping the future.

May this year be defined by new ideas, bold endeavors, and transformative contributions to industry and society.

ALUM OF THE MONTH

Ms. Aditi Verma (Alumna Batch 2021-23)

Recruitment Manager
Laburnum Developers

1. Can you please share with us which company you are currently working for and your designation within the same organization?

I'm currently working as a Recruitment Manager at Laburnum Developers. It's been an exciting journey being part of a dynamic real estate development company where I get to build teams and contribute to the growth of the organization through strategic talent acquisition.

2. How has GIMS played a pivotal role in assisting you in achieving your career goals? Are there any specific experiences or resources from your time at GIMS that you found particularly beneficial?

GIMS has been instrumental in shaping my career trajectory. The comprehensive management curriculum provided me with a strong foundation in business principles, while the emphasis on practical learning through case studies and group projects prepared me for real-world challenges. The placement cell's guidance and mock interview sessions were particularly valuable in building my confidence. The diverse peer group at GIMS also helped me develop strong interpersonal skills, which are essential in my current role as a recruitment manager.

3. Remembering your time at GIMS, were there any specific challenges or areas where you felt there was a lack of opportunities or resources that you believe could be improved for current students?

While my overall experience at GIMS was enriching, I felt there could have been more exposure to HR technology and recruitment tools that are widely used in the industry today. Additionally, more guest lectures from HR professionals and recruitment specialists would have provided better industry insights. Greater emphasis on personality development and communication skills through specialized workshops could also benefit students entering the competitive job market.

4. Do you have any suggestions for enhancing our academic curriculum? Specifically, which subjects or areas do you think could significantly benefit the juniors in terms of career advancement and skill enhancement?

I recommend incorporating subjects like Digital HR, talent analytics, and social media recruitment into the curriculum. Understanding of HR technologies, applicant tracking systems and data-driven recruitment strategies would be invaluable. Additionally, courses on employment law, diversity and inclusion practices, and organizational psychology would provide a competitive edge. Practical modules on interview techniques, candidate assessment methods, and employer branding would also be highly beneficial for students interested in HR and recruitment careers.

5. What would you like to advise the college to undertake in order to equip the students well for this dynamic professional world?

GIMS should establish stronger industry partnerships to provide students with regular exposure to current market practices. Setting up a mentorship program connecting students with working professionals would be valuable. The college should also focus on developing students' digital literacy and adaptability skills, as the professional world is rapidly evolving. Regular industry visits, live projects with companies, and certification courses in emerging areas would help bridge the academia-industry gap effectively.

6. We are eager to learn more about your corporate journey. Could you walk us through your professional experiences, from your initial career steps to your current role?

My career began with an internship at EY (Ernst & Young), where I got hands-on experience in recruiting mid and senior-level candidates. This role exposed me to various sourcing techniques, including job portals, employee referrals, and social networking tools like LinkedIn. The experience at EY gave me a solid foundation in understanding different industries and their talent requirements. After my stint at EY, I moved to Geetanjali Homestate Pvt Ltd as Senior Human Resources Manager, where I expanded my expertise beyond recruitment to include employee relations, performance management, and organizational development. This role helped me understand the complete employee lifecycle. Currently, I'm working as a Recruitment Manager at Laburnum Developers, where I'm responsible for end-to-end talent acquisition across various departments. The progression from an intern to a management role has been possible due to the strong foundation I received at GIMS and my continuous learning approach.

7. As an accomplished professional, what advice would you like to offer to your juniors at GIMS who are embarking on their career journey?

My advice to my juniors is to embrace every opportunity to learn, especially internships – they provide invaluable real-world experience. Master digital tools and platforms early in your career, as they've become essential in today's professional world. Build and maintain your professional network actively; the connections you make can open doors throughout your career. Don't be afraid to start from the ground up – my journey from an intern to a manager taught me the importance of understanding every aspect of the business. Most importantly, stay curious and adaptable. The recruitment industry has evolved significantly with technology, and those who adapt quickly are the ones who succeed. Lastly, cherish your time at GIMS – the knowledge, friendships, and experiences you gain here will be your greatest assets in your professional journey!
