

GNIOT Institute of Management Studies – PGDM (Batch 2021-23)(TRIMESTER – I) END TERM EXAMINATION, NOVEMBER - 2021*MARKETING MANAGEMENT*[Time: 2 Hours 30 Minutes]*[Maximum Marks: 100]*INSTRUCTIONS:

- (i) There are THREE sections in this question paper.
- (ii) Attempt questions from each section as per the directions.
- (iii) Make suitable assumptions wherever necessary.

SECTION-AQ.1. Attempt all parts of the following:*(10×3=30)

- (a) Explain the Marketing Mix of HDFC Bank.
- (b) What are the different values that are sought by customers.
- (c) “In the real world there is nothing called a pure product or a pure service.” Briefly explain.
- (d) Explain the term Marketing Myopia with the example of Nokia.
- (e) Is there a difference between the functions of Marketing and Sales?
- (f) Explain the difference between Differentiated and Undifferentiated Marketing with an example of each.
- (g) Give an example of a Dog which has got converted into a Star.
- (h) Why is the 4C approach an improvement over the 4P methodology
- (i) What kind of companies will employ the Sales Concept of Marketing. Give 2 examples
- (j) Asian Paints has launched Royale Health Shield. What could be the source of this new product idea?

SECTION-BAttempt all questions of the following:*(4×10=40)Q.2. (a) Explain the difference between Product Development and Market Development with examples.OR(b) Coca Cola practised Market penetration when it launched 200 ml at Rs 5 in India. What were some of the considerations behind its strategy.Q.3. (a) Classify the different brands of Maruti using the BCG Matrix. You will need to give your reasons for the classification.OR*(b) Classify the different divisions of ITC using the BCG matrix. You will need to give reasons for the classification.Q.4. (a) A premium men's perfume is plan to launch in India. What are some of the bases it will consider while trying to segment the market.OR*(b) What is the likely Market targeting of a premium luxury car like Audi in India.Q.5. (a) How did Lifebuoy reposition its brand in India.OR*(b) Imagine a study being done to understand the perceptions of consumer on two dimensions – price economy and luxury features. Using a X-Y plan what is the likely positioning of the following brands – i10, Alto, Swift Dezire, Hyundai i20 and Audi. Which of the brands are closest in terms of positioning.

SECTION-C

Q.6. Attempt all parts of the following:

(2×15=30)

Saregama Carvaan – A Lesson in Listening to the Customer

The Saregama Carvaan is 55-year-old Archana Singh's primary music listening device. She listens to bhajans in the morning and evergreen melodies of the 60s and 70s while having her evening tea. Last Diwali her children gifted it to her and her husband. And over the past year, Carvaan has become her prized possession. What's more, Singh's friends who have experienced Carvaan at her home have also bought the portable music player.

Scepticism was rife 16 months ago when legacy music licencing company Saregama (erstwhile HMV) announced the launch of its digital music player that resembled an old fashioned radio. Who would pay to buy a device that stores 5,000 songs when everything is freely available on sites like YouTube, most wondered. But people like Archana Singh and her friends are testimony to the consumer insight that drove Saregama to rethink how people listen to music. People wanted a device that is convenient to use.

The scepticism about a product like Carvaan stems from people, and sometimes even marketers, getting stuck inside an echo chamber of people just like them. The success of Saregama Carvaan teaches marketers to never lose touch of the needs of the end consumer.

Vikram Mehra, Managing Director of Saregama Carvaan, says, "As marketers we start thinking that the whole of India or the world is like us. It need not be so. There are a large number of people in this country who still want things that are comfortable." He says that marketers must not lose touch with what the end consumer wants.

Calling Saregama Carvaan unique and unconventional, brand guru Saurabh Uboweja said, "This is a simple product that is packaged around a need that was not serviced." At a time when all marketers are chasing the millennials, "Carvaan targeted a market that is largely ignored by brands," Uboweja pointed out.

They were people who didn't like technology, neither in the phones nor in their music systems. These people loved the radio but didn't have access to it anymore with old transistors long gone.

Later on, Saregama, in a perfect masterstroke, has expanded the CARVAAN product portfolio. They have added everything from local languages eg. CARVAAN Tamil to CARVAAN Kidz to CARVAAN bhakti and even a CARVAAN Go. This diversification of products has provided Saregama with an opportunity to double on the CARVAAN success by being more inclusive.

(<https://www.exchange4media.com/marketing-news/saregama-carvaan-a-lesson-in-listening-to-the-consumer-93291.html>)

6(a) How did Saregama segment the market for the Carvaan product initially. How did it expand the market subsequently (You may use the Ansoff matrix to explain).

6(b) Estimate the likely market size for the product initially. (Please clearly state your assumptions)

Annexure

Some Data points you can use

Population of India = 1.3 Cr

Population in metro and tier 1 = 30%

Age wise distribution of population:

Age Group	%
0-14	36%
15-24	18.24
25-44	27.6
>45	18.16