

--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--

GNIOT Institute of Management Studies – PGDM (Batch 2021-22)(TRIMESTER – V) END TERM EXAMINATION, DECEMBER - 2022*International Business and Global HRM*[Time: 2 Hours 30 Minutes]*[Maximum Marks: 100]*INSTRUCTIONS:

- (i) There are THREE sections in this question paper.
- (ii) Attempt questions from each section as per the directions.
- (iii) Make suitable assumptions wherever necessary.

SECTION-A(Short Answer Type Questions, do not exceed 100 words)Q.1. Attempt all parts of the following(10×3=30)

- (a) Differentiate between HRM & IHRM?
- (b) How do variables like type of industry, the dependence of the multinational on its home country and attitudes of senior managements moderate the difference between domestic and international HR?
- (c) Is the role of international HR expanding from staffing to higher order planning? Enumerate the various criteria which should be considered with selecting employees at international level.
- (d) Why is a greater degree of involvement in employee's personal lives inevitable in many international HRM activities?
- (e) Explain differences between PCN's and TCN's
- (f) What are the implications of ethnocentric, geocentric, polycentric and Region-centric approaches for International Human Resource Management?
- (g) Enumerate the various criteria which should be considered with selecting employees at international level.
- (h) How do internationalizing strategies affect HR activities?
- (i) "Highly competent employees are available not only at headquarters, but also in the subsidiaries". Comment.
- (j) What are the factors that determine as to from which country the staff are selected-PCN or CN or TCN?

SECTION-B(Long Answer Type Questions)Attempt all questions of the following:(4×10=40)*Q.2. (a) Elaborate the models of international HRM with reference to Global functions.OR(b) Discuss the various stages of IHRM in brief.*Q.3. (a) Is there a universally accepted philosophy as to which national should be selected to a multinational?OR(b) What are the challenges that HR professionals encounter in retaining, developing and retrenching staff both in the parent country as well as in the host country?*Q.4. (a) Explain the recruitment and selection methods followed in acquiring talent for international operations?OR(b) Discuss Harvard model of International HRM.

Q.5. (a) Analyze the key differences in salary compensation for PCNs and TCNs? Do these differences matter?

OR

(b) Mr. Ramesh CMD of an Indian branded industry is planning to expand his company operations in USA. Mr. Anand from India, Mr. Ching from China and Mr. Smith from USA are in final selection round for CEO position. For the other key position, once three years term contract, Mr. Singh, Mr. Nair and Ms. Fatima have been elected. If you are in place of Mr. Ramesh.

(i) Whom do you select for CEO position? Why. Also how do you design compensation packages for all?

(ii) What is the pre-departure training you would give to the selected candidates?

SECTION-C

Q.6. Attempt all parts of the following:

(2×15=30)

Imagine that you have recently been hired as a human resources consultant by a Canadian multinational enterprise (MNE) called Aero. Aero designs, manufactures and sells commercial airplane engines and fuselages worldwide. It currently has over 1,000 employees in its three locations, including 500 at its global headquarters in Canada, 300 at a manufacturing plant in the U.S., and now over 200 at its newest manufacturing plant in Mexico.

The firm is having problems communicating and sharing its corporate values and policies with its newest employees in Mexico. The only experience Aero has had in opening a new subsidiary prior to Mexico was in the U.S., where corporate values and policies were taken up by American employees with little difficulty. The problems in the Mexican plant seem to centre around poor communications between the managers, who are mostly Canadian, and its new employees, who are mostly from Mexico.

“We want our corporate culture to be the same everywhere,” explains Aero’s CEO, Ms. Mary Avery, to you over lunch. “We want everything we do in Canada to be the accepted, standard practice across all of our locations, but that just doesn’t seem to be getting across to our employees in Mexico.” Avery continues by telling you that all new employees are trained in Aero’s corporate culture via discussions with their managers and corporate brochures/reading materials. She says that her Canadian managers in Mexico are frustrated with the Mexican workers’ abilities to learn Aero’s culture and that, as a result, productivity at the plant has been negatively impacted.

You investigate the issue by speaking with managers and employees at the new subsidiary in Mexico. The managers complain that employees at the new plant do not speak their mind very often, and often seem to stress harmony with each other over learning Aero’s culture. Managers are also frustrated that staff meetings frequently start late due to the lateness of employees. The employees, who are younger than their managers on the average, are frustrated that they are not told exactly how to do their tasks; instead, they are told to read their employee manuals for guidance. They are concerned that Aero managers are too impatient with them about learning the policies. They feel they have been left to their own devices to figure out how things work, which often causes them to stay late at work. What is more, staying late on their shifts often causes them to be late for staff meetings, where they are often berated by managers for not acting like “good Canadian employees”.

After your examination you become convinced that the problem Aero is experiencing relates to culture, and you prepare your report accordingly.

6(a). Summarize the situation and how you would have handled it?

6(b) What is the definition of culture? How it is typically measured in the context of international human resource management?