In Global Marketing environment, the existing information systems used by various departmental stores are not from grass route level. At present, more and more companies have started feeling that their sales staff is unable to do routine works and has limited time to devote to other market promotional activities. This constraint can be overcome if a research organization provides them with a system of retail department store audit.

A management business consultancy or organization is seriously thinking of starting its own retail department audit. In this connection, it would like to know the kind of information that should be obtained, and from whom and when and some other related aspects.

6(a) What are the problems likely to arise and how would you overcome them?6(b) Prepare a suitable and detailed methodology of study.
