SECTION-C

Q.4. Attempt all parts of the following:

(2×9=18)

As an employer, you need to be legally compliant. If you want to retain your employees and ensure your customers have consistent service provision, you need to adopt best practice within the business. You may have had an HR related problem or issue, and want to ensure that you are not prone to this again. Tribunals and employee relations issues are expensive, not only in monetary terms but in time spent away from running your operational business. As a business owner or senior decision maker within the business, you perhaps 'don't know what you don't know'. HR auditor processes and has identified areas for improvement in the following issues:

- Recruitment process
- Induction;
- Review of policies and procedures in line with current legislation and best practice;
- Absenteeism;
- Disciplinary and Grievance issues;
- Performance Management systems and Objective setting;
- Identification of training needs;
- Succession planning;

The company is a web-based service provider, the company had undergone a period of growth, which in turn lead to the need for a significant increase in employees over a short period of time. The company's incumbent HR processes were unable to support the revised resource profile, resulting in a high number of HR related issues occurring. The company did not possess the necessary knowledge of Human Resource management to identify and deliver the required enhancements to the company's HR processes and procedures. HR Central interviewed the Senior Management team to understand the HR processes that were currently in place, and what the business wanted to achieve in the short, medium and long term. You have to review any 5 issues which they faced with their employees, including various grievances and capability issues that were taking a lot of management time to resolve.

- 4(a) Identified the essential processes and policies that were required as a minimum and put these processes in place immediately to ensure legal compliance and resolve the current issues
- 4(b) Develop a detailed report highlighting the good areas and the areas of concern, including longer-term considerations to ensure that the business achieved its goals. The report used a traffic light system

Green- to identify areas that were fit for purpose.

Amber- indicated areas that would benefit the business if these actions took place.

Red- highlighted areas that required immediate attention.
