SECTION-C

eFashion Paris: Product discoverability first eFashion Paris is a B2B marketplace with thousands of styles from 600 Parisian brands, adding thousands of new clothing items each week. They serve fashion professionals and sell clothes and accessories for kids, women, and men. Like many B2B ecommerce websites, eFashion Paris requires their customers to log in to see prices, detailed collections, and wholesaler information. But while potential customers can't easily add items to cart and experiment with order sizes, they can explore the product catalog. Clicking into any product category gives customers filtering options. They can narrow products down by brands, colors, materials, characteristics, and styles. Each product page outlines quantities and sizes included in each pack and for each color. This makes it easy for buyers to plan their product range and inventory. For customers who aren't already logged in, clicking the checkout button triggers a pop-up with a prompt to log in or register as either a retailer or a vendor.

Q.4. Attempt all parts of the following:

(2×10=20)

4(a) What else do you suggest the brand can do to boost its sales through its e-commerce platform?

4(b) Suggest 3 keywords which the company can use in its SEO strategy to boost its website traffic.
