SECTION-C

Digit Insurance, a fast-growing digital-first insurance company, is planning to expand its customer base and enhance brand awareness. The company's key selling points are its user-friendly mobile app, transparent pricing, and quick claims processing. Digit's target audience includes tech-savvy individuals, young professionals, and millennials who prefer digital solutions for their insurance needs. The marketing team is evaluating two potential strategies to improve customer acquisition:

Digital Advertising Campaign: Running targeted digital ads across platforms like Facebook, Instagram, Google, and YouTube to engage potential customers. The ads would emphasize Digit's ease of use, speed of claims, and competitive pricing.

Referral Program: Encouraging existing customers to refer friends and family by offering incentives such as discounts on premiums or additional services for each successful referral.

The team must decide which approach will be more effective in attracting and retaining customers in the highly competitive insurance market.

Q.4. Attempt all parts of the following:

(2×10=20)

4(a) Suggest which Unique Value Proposition (Even hypothetical) you'd highlight in the ad campaign if you were the marketing manager for Digit Insurance?

4(b) Draft a referral program to increase customer acquisition as per the case given above.
