OR

- (b) Self-evolution is a journey of aligning your 'present actions' with your 'innermost values'. Explain this concept and provide an illustration from a student's life in a professional setting.

Q.3. (a) When we seek happiness solely through material possessions, it often leads to dissatisfaction and dependency. Do you agree with this statement? Support your answer with logical arguments and examples.

OR

- (b) 'The human being consists of both physical needs and mental aspirations.' Explain this concept by reflecting on your own life experiences.

SECTION-C

Q.4. Attempt all parts of the following:

(2×10=20)

You are a city bus conductor, and during your routine check, you find a young student who has boarded the bus without a ticket. Upon inquiry, the student explains that he lost his wallet and is unable to pay the fare. He is on his way to an important examination that will determine his future scholarship. The student pleads for your understanding, promising to pay later, but you have strict orders to enforce ticketing rules as fare evasion has been on the rise. The student appears sincere but seems visibly stressed and anxious about the consequences of missing his exam.

- 4(a) What ethical dilemmas are present in this situation? Analyze the conflict between enforcing rules and considering the student's personal circumstances.
- 4(b) What course of action would you take to resolve this situation? Propose a solution that balances compassion with professional responsibility, and explain the rationale behind your decision.
